SCIENTIFIC AIDS TO CRIME DETECTION.

A special Section, known as the Technical Bureau, is established at Crime Branch Headquarters which provides valuable assistance to Gárdaí throughout the country in the investigation of crime by means of scientific aids.

The Section is provided with modern equipment to keep pace with scientific developments.

The staff is appointed from experienced members who have had technical training, and lectures and practical demonstrations in modern methods of criminal investigation are provided for members of Detective Branch, and for uniformed members in the more thickly populated centres.

Courses are also given to recruits when in training who are taken over the type of work undertaken by the Bureau, and instructed in methods of search for and preservation of clues which might otherwise escape notice or be obliterated by careless handling.

The Section comprises six sub-sections, viz:

- (1) Investigation.
- (2) Fingerprints and Criminal (5) Ballistics. Records.
- (3) Photographs.
- (4) Mapping.
- (6) Wireless.

Brief particulars of the work done by the units are :-

(1) INVESTIGATION.

The services of this unit are sought by and allocated to local Officers to assist in the investigation of serious crimes. The Headquarters unit thus forms a useful link between Headquarters and local Officers at all stages of the investigation, and co-relates enquiries extending over various Districts. When necessary the unit arranges for the employment of extern experts such as the State Pathologist, State Analyst, Handwriting and Textile Experts, etc.

During the year 1950, Officers spent 236 days in visiting the scenes of crimes including murders, suspected murder and serious cases of housebreaking.

Preliminary examination of clothing and other articles for stains, comparison of specimens of handwriting, etc., were made of 365 articles of which 152 were eliminated before being seut to extern experts, thus saving considerable expense.

(2) FINGERPRINTS AND CRIMINAL RECORDS.

These records provide a complete record of previous convictions of each criminal, a description, photograph and history of subject with modus operandi employed.

The total number of criminal records filed is now 67,773, representing an increase of 2,324 on 1949 figures.

Fingerprints found at scenes of crimes are compared with records and when no identification is immediately made, as is the case of new entrants to crime, the prints are preserved for future reference and comparison. When a new criminal is arrested it is thus frequently possible to connect him with outstanding crimes.

Enquiries are daily received from and sent to other police forces and inter-change of fingerprints and records is made in the cases of travelling criminals.

Regular issues of Fogra Fora in two parts are prepared in this Section. Part I deals with persons wanted for crime, missing persons, and description of property stolen or property recovered for which owners are sought.

Part II contains photographs of convicted criminals, reconvictions, with their descriptions, which are filed at all stations for future reference.

Photographs, etc. of convicted criminals are also supplied in convenient pocket-book form to Detectives and Stations in cities.

The following summary gives an idea of the work performed in this sub-section during the year 1950:—

This section deals with many phases of police photography including:—

- (a) Photos of criminals and suspects for circulation,
- (b) Scenes of crimes and road traffic accidents.
- (c) Dead bodies at scenes, morgues, etc.
- (d) Documents, forgeries and 'suspect handwriting; restoring obliterated writings; examination with ultra-violet light-for forgeries.
- (e) Photography of fingerprints and enlargements for Court purposes.
- (f) Photostatic copies of maps and other documents.
- (g) Micro-photography of marks on bullets, tool-marks on iron, wood-work, etc. for comparison.

During the year members spent 242 days attending Courts, 192 days at scenes of crimes.

Work was performed also for Departments of External Affairs, Posts and Telegraphs, Oireachtas, National Museum and Statistics Office.

(4) MAPPING SECTION.

This section supplies maps for all police purposes including those of scenes of crimes, road-traffic accidents, special traffic charts, and maps and charts for Department of Justice.

During the year the scenes of 181 crimes or road traffic accidents were visited, 935 maps prepared, and 187 days spent in Courts.

The Courts have come to rely on the production of maps made by qualified Gárdaí as a valuable part of evidence

(5) BALLISTIC SECTION.

The duties performed by this section include examination of guns, bullets, cartridge cases and explosives; restoring erased numbers on stolen cycles and motor vehicles, batteries, etc.; examination of glass fragments found at road traffic accident scenes, or in clothing of suspects; examination and comparison of cutting instruments used in forcing doors, windows, safes, etc.

Exhibits were examined in 15 cases where firearms were used during the year, the most important being in the case of murder of Rose Hand (Offaly). In this case it was possible to determine, within narrow limits, the range at which shot was discharged and also the line of fire. These two findings had an important bearing on the case for the prosecution.

During the year a total of 445 exhibits were received for examination, including 34 firearms, 195 rounds of ammunition, 23 cycles and 193 other articles.

The members attended Courts on 31 days during the year.

(6) WIRELESS SUB-SECTION.

A central transmission and receiving station is established at Gárda Headquarters which is operated by remote control from Dublin Castle.

The maintenance and operating staff is now attached to Dublin Metropolitan Division where 14 patrol cars, fitted with wireless, operate.

Receiving sets are also installed in 14 Gárda Stations and 8 two-way sets in Dublin and surrounding counties.

Arrangements are being made for further provision of wireless for patrol cars in Dublin and Wicklow counties.

Wireless cars in operation in Dublin are continuously circulating in city and suburbs and form a link with foot and cycle patrols.

These cars are in constant touch with Headquarters and with one another.

Particulars of serious crimes, traffic accidents and street disturbances are broadcast and cars are directed to scenes or to cut off escape routes of fleeing criminals. These messages are also received at Gárda Stations on main routes leading from Dublin and patrols from these Stations are notified where necessary.

Wireless communications are also linked up to relay complaints received from public over "999" telephone system regarding crime, suspicious loiterers, etc., thus enabling speedy attention to be given by Gárda to complaints. Action by Gárda has resulted in several arrests on the spot within a few minutes of receipt of complaints and in the interception of vehicles involved in "hit and run" accidents.

During the year 1950, some 3,300 calls over "999" system were received, of which 226 were broadcast to radio cars, which resulted in arrests for 111 cases of indictable and other crimes of which the following are examples:—

Housebreaking ... 39 cases resulting in 54 arrests.

Larceny ... 41 ,, ,, 64 ,,

Malicious Damage ... 18 ,, ,, ,, 22 ,,

Robbery ... 5 ,, ,, ,, 7 ,,

Arrests were made also in following cases:-

Stolen motor cars—4 cases.

Hit and Run Accidents-4 cases.

Drunk in charge of motor vehicles-13 cases.

Assault—29 cases

Disorderly Conduct—51 cases.

Street Nuisances-5 cases.

Three portable wireless sets (known as "walkie-talkie") were provided during the year on experimental basis for foot patrols. They are used with advantage in regulating traffic in congested conditions and in controlling large crowds at sporting fixtures and public meetings.

GENERAL.

Due to structural defects, discovered in the building at Royal Hospital, Kilmainham, Gárda Headquarters was transferred during the year to the Depot, Phœnix Park ('Phone 71156).

"A" Branch (Finance, Traffic, etc.) and Technical Bureau remain at St. John's Road, Kingsbridge ('Phone 76363) due to lack of accommodation at Phœnix Park.
