EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Instrument and does not purport to be a legal interpretation.)

Part 4 of the Social Welfare (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 2023 (No. 37 of 2023)) amends the Social Welfare Consolidation Act 2005 to facilitate inter alia—

- the introduction of flexibility to State pension (contributory) to allow a person to defer claiming the State pension (contributory) up to the age of 70.
- continued access to specified weekly social welfare payments after reaching pensionable age and during pension deferral.

These Regulations make consequential changes to the Social Welfare (Consolidated Contributions and Insurability) Regulations 1996 (S.I. No. 312 of 1996)) restricting the extent to which employment contributions can be credited to an insured person who has attained pensionable age and—

- (a) whose entry into insurance had not occurred prior to attaining pensionable age;
- (b) is claiming illness benefit, partial capacity benefit, jobseeker's benefit or jobseeker's benefit (self-employed);
- (c) is attending certain approved courses of education or training;
- (d) is employed as a volunteer development worker.

These restrictions take effect from 1 January 2024: the date on which the possibility for such credited contributions might first arise by virtue of the changes made by Part 4 of the Social Welfare (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 2023. Under the law in force up to 31 December 2023 it was not possible for credited contributions to be claimed by anyone over pensionable age. Credited contributions of these varieties, or in these circumstances, will remain fully available to persons under pensionable age.

The Regulations also allow for credited contributions in respect of periods during which an insured person is in receipt of parent's benefit or is availing of parent's leave – similar to the credits already available in respect of periods of health and safety benefit, maternity benefit/leave, adoptive benefit/leave, paternity benefit/leave or carer's benefit/leave. Such credits will be deemed to be available in respect of any periods beginning on or after 1 November 2019 – the date on which the provisions of the Parent's Leave and Benefit Act 2019 came into force which created entitlements to parent's benefit and parent's leave.
